SciFinder Discovery Platform registration

The URL access to SciFinder is: https://scifinder-n.cas.org/

> What if I cannot access SciFinder?
> This is a guide, that you can follow if you have trouble accessing SciFinder. Below, you will be able to see the situations in which you may find yourself.

1.- I do not have access to SciFinder. How do I get a Login and a Password?

If you do not have a Login ID and Password: you must first register into SciFinder. To register, use the following link https://scifinder-n.cas.org/. Click on "Create an account" and hit the "Register for enterprise or government use" link and follow the instructions. Please make sure to use your organization's email address only. You will need to fill in simple registration form. When you will submit it, you will get an email confirmation. The login page on our website is here https://www.cas.org/cas-solutions-login

2.- I do not know where to click to access SciFinder:

- ✓ Access to SciFinder:
  - You can click on www.cas.org, and select the within the menu, in the upper right Login or go to https://www.cas.org/cas-solutions-login

Select: SciFinder,

And enter your LoginID and Password.

3.- When I enter SciFinder, I get this message: What can I do?

If this error appears, it may be due to three reasons:

- ✓ Error when writing the Login ID and / or password: try to access again in the “Try again” option (check if you have capital letters are activated).

- ✓ Error when writing either the Login or the password: if you do not remember one of the two credentials (Login ID or password), select the option "Can't log in?" located on the SciFinder main page:

and follow the instructions. The system will ask you for an e-mail address, which must be your institute’s e-mail:

Once written, click "Next" and the system will send you an e-mail to the specified address with a verification code to retrieve your data.

- ✓ The above options do not solve my problem: Do not hesitate to send an e-mail to help@cas.org or EMEAhelp@cas.org requesting help.
